

Program – Russian Philology

Level – Bachelor

Qualification – Bachelor of Humanities in Philology

Program Goals:

The program is topical in the conditions of modern globalization inasmuch as the competitiveness of qualified specialists depends first and foremost, on the ability to accomplish successful activities in multi-cultural space. It means fluency in international language. The involvement of the Georgian higher educational institutions into the Bologna Process implies approximation to and harmonization with the European educational systems that aim at creating unified European space for higher education. It will promote the employment of Georgian citizens, expansion of mobility and increase of the international competitiveness of the Georgian higher educational system. The aim of the program is to educate highly-qualified, competitive philologists, easily adaptive to changeable professional environment, who will be a free personality with high civic awareness and activity, humanism, democracy and principles of liberal values. The Bachelor of Humanities in Philology (with major in “Russian Philology”) will be a specialist-philologist with general education in humanities who will understand the essence and social importance of the future profession, will be equipped with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills of the basic philological disciplines as well as experience of conducting applied scientific research, skills of intercultural communication as well as will be ready either to continue study at the next MA level or be employed at the labor market.