

Program – Ecology

Level – Bachelor’s Level

Qualification – Bachelor of Ecology

The Program Goals

The aim of the program is to give students broad theoretical knowledge about the living organisms, their populations, regulation of interrelations of co-societies with one another and with the environment, environment of anthropological factors, possible negative outcome of the impact on ecosystems; interdependence of organisms and environment, biosphere structure, its evolution and global ecological problems of environment; to form in students the impression on a man as a part of nature as well as the fact that mankind cannot survive without sustainable development of biosphere; to give students skills of ecological prognosis, evaluation of the negative impact of humans’ professional and economic activities on biosphere, determination of its causes and measures for prevention in case of possibility.